

Become a Formal Partner of RCE Saskatchewan

Is your organization wanting...

to become a leader in sustainable development?

to connect with Saskatchewan researchers and community leaders on sustainable development initiatives?

to learn how to set up a living laboratory for sustainability that will help you build capacity and see long term results?

to be part of an international network of sustainability projects and experts recognized by the United Nations?

RCE Saskatchewan Partners are part of RCE Saskatchewan's governance structure, and participate in three regional meetings (90 min each) per year on information sharing and planning. (Remote conferencing options are available.) You can also receive support from other RCE partners in research, planning, and idea sharing.

If your organization is interested in becoming a partner, feel free to contact one of our representatives to find out more. To formally apply for partnership, send RCE Saskatchewan a letter requesting partnership status and explaining your sustainable development goals, your education and capacity building activities to date, and the

We look forward to hearing from you!
